NOTE(S) TO READER

Although the MES program is returning less than the others, with the most recent late Aug update we expect 80% or better annualized ROI going forward. As part of a balanced portfolio is an excellent addition considering its relative volatility stability vs. crypto).

The Autotrader platform is new, it was released late summer 2024 and preliminary results are returns of approximately 9% per month or 185.34% annualized and expected to escalate up to 50% more over the next year.

The copy trader accounts in crypto are considered high risk and returns will vary considerably at various times and depending on when a user onboards will also reflect various ROI.

The most recent EPIC software update release was August of 2024. The EPIC software performance has escalated considerably since the release, as evidenced in the returns per below.
